FIGHT AGAIN LAST NIGHT

In Which Private United States Soldier Was Killed—So Far As Known No Mexican Was Hit—Probably Gang Was Same As One That Wrecked Train a Week Ago Today.

(Associated Press Telegram) Brownsville, Texas, Oct. 25.—Virtually the entire strength of the United States border patrol in this district spent last night in a search for Mexican bandits who attacked a detachment of the fourth United States infantry at the spot north of Brownsville where a train was wrecked and three Americans killed, one week ago today. In the fighting last night, private Herman E. Moore, of French Lick Springs, Ind., was fatally wounded. So far as known none of the Mexicans was hit.

The scene of the fighting and tactics employed by the Mexicans led army officers to assert that the Mexicans engaged probably were members of the band guilty of the train wrecking and which is said to have been led by Luis De La Rosa, fomenter of the so-called Texas revolution.

Every river station was warned and the soldiers began a systematic hunt for the outlaws in the belief that this time their escape into Mexico had been cut off. What the result of the search was during the night had not been reported at Fort Brown early today.

Bandits who attacked an entrenched United States infantry camp within six miles of Brownsville yesterday escaped capture by more than a thousand troops, rangers and deputies who started in pursuit of them in half an hour after the fight. Daylight revealed that there were possibly thirty or forty men in two attacking parties, which attempted to ambush the soldiers.

VESSEL AFIRE AND ABANDONED TODAY.

(Associated Press Telegram) Charleston, S. C., Oct. 25.—The Mallory liner Colorado, which sailed from Charleston last night with cotton for New York caught fire and was abandoned, according to a wireless message received here today from the steamer Suwanee.

COLUMBUS MERCHANT HURT

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Oct. 25.—Max H. Rieser, prominent business man here, was dangerously hurt late yesterday when his automobile was struck by an interurban car near Lancaster. Louis Satt, who accompanied him was almost instantly killed. Rieser's nephew Malcolm Rieser, escaped injury. The party had been to Lancaster where Mr. Rieser addressed the boys at the industrial home.

Russian Successes Reported In Vicinity of Riga, German Efforts There Being Repulsed

(Associated Press Telegram) Petrograd, via London Oct. 25.—Successes for the Russians are continuing along the entire front south of Dvinsk, while the energetic efforts being made by the Germans in the vicinity of Riga have not succeeded in shaking the positions of the Russians along that part of the front.

The military authorities here regard the situation around Riga as quite satisfactory at present, and declare also that the capture of Riga by the Germans has not altered conditions at Dvinsk, the position of which city remains strong in spite of a renewal of the battle with furious

PRESIDENT WILL BE IN COLUMBUS ON DECEMBER 10

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Oct. 25.—President Wilson has accepted an invitation to go to Columbus Ohio, December 10, to deliver an address before the Federal Council of the Church of Christ in America. The details of the trip will be arranged later.

ARCHIBALD S. WHITE

Archibald S. White, formerly of Newark, who is a friend and business adviser of German Ambassador von Bernstorff, has bought the South Porto Rico Sugar Company, which was owned almost wholly by Germans. Considerable inquiry has followed, because neither sugar men nor diplomats can understand why Germans would want to sell such a concern at this time. The company owns extensive cane lands. It produced more than 63,000 tons of sugar for the year ended Sept. 30. There was much activity on the Stock Exchange in New York following the news of the sale. But Mr. White would not tell the names of the men for whom he bought the company.

BRYAN BEGINS SIX-DAY TOUR FOR THE DRYS

SPEAKS IN NEWARK IN AFTER-NOON TODAY AND AT ZANESVILLE TONIGHT.

Anti-Saloon Leaders do not know if He Will Discuss Other Than Prohibition Issue.

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Oct. 25.—William J. Bryan, former secretary of state, speaking at Steubenville this morning, began a six-day campaign for the adoption of a proposed state-wide prohibition amendment to the Ohio constitution which will be voted on in the November election.

Mr. Bryan arrived in Steubenville last night, and immediately sent telegrams to several friends in this city to join him.

Touring on a special train, the former secretary of state will visit 41 counties and deliver 46 speeches during the week. Whether he will discuss anything but the wet and dry issue was a question which anti-saloon league leaders here could not answer.

In addition to the speech at Steubenville, Mr. Bryan's itinerary today calls for addresses at Uhrichs-

Will Heartily Support The Army Program Recently Announced

DIFFICULTY IS NOT EXPECTED

In Getting Congress to Pass Necessary Legislation

PROGRAM CONSERVATIVE

In the Opinion of Chairman Hay of the House Military Committee Who Today Went Over the Details of Plan With President—Senate Chairman Also Favors It.

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Oct. 25.—Chairman Hay of the house military committee went over the details of the army program with President Wilson today and announced that it would have his hearty support.

Chairman Hay said that he considered the program very conservative and saw no reason why there should be difficulty in getting congress to adopt it. He added that he would secure as speedy action in the house as was possible. In addition to the plans favored by Secretary Garrison, Chairman Hay said he would make efforts to strengthen the national guard. He said he favored increasing the pay of the organized militia.

Because the house committees are yet to be organized there will be no hearing on the army bill before congress convenes, but afterward hearings probably will last for a month or six weeks. Mr. Hay saw no necessity for a bond issue.

Chairman Chamberlain of the senate military committee will confer with the president next week. He also favors the program.

AUTOMOBILES' EXPORTS REACH HIGHEST MARK

Washington, Oct. 25.—Foreign countries took over $74,000,000 worth of American automobiles and parts thereof, in the past fiscal year, the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce announced. This was an increase over the previous year of more than $36,000,000. Prospects are that the exports in the calendar year will exceed $120,000,000.

European countries are the largest purchasers of American motor trucks increased sales are being made, however to countries far removed from the war zone.

The export trade for the year is made up as follows: Commercial automobiles $39,140,682; passenger automobiles $21,113,953; automobile tires $4,963,270; automobile engines $1,405,334 and automobile parts $7,853,183.

Exports to England aggregated over $24,000,000; France $14,248,000 and Russia more than $9,000,000. Total exports to Alaska were $91,381; Hawaii $1,514,585, and to Porto Rico $775,879.

GOVERNOR VISITS HIS FATHER ON 82ND BIRTHDAY

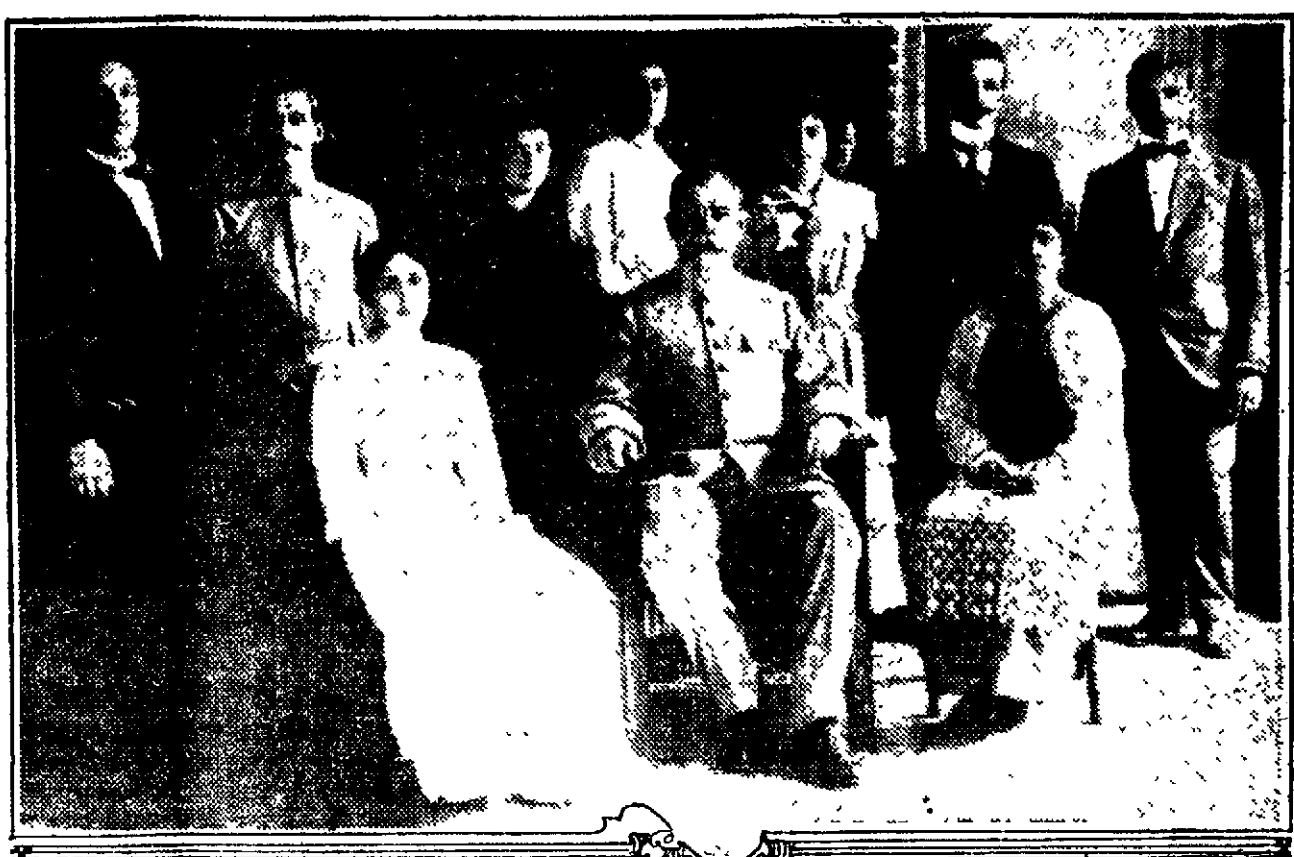

Columbus, Oct. 25.—Governor Willis went to Delaware today to assist in the celebration of the eighty-second birthday anniversary of his father, J. B. Willis. He planned to return here tonight to deliver an address to a ward political meeting, the first public address since his return from his western trip.

Factory Girls Jump from Windows Of Burning Building, Some to Safety, But Pittsburg Fire Claims 12 Victims

(Associated Press Telegram) Pittsburg, Oct. 25.—Twelve persons who were employed in the factory of the Union Paper Box company on the North Side are known to be dead, eight girls are badly injured and a number of others are missing as the result of a fire which this afternoon started in the feed store of James Brown and company, and spread to the factory. Firemen searching the ruins of the three-story building recovered the bodies and reinforced by the entire city department continued their search in the dense smoke.

FOUR ESCAPE DEATH WHEN AUTO SKIDS

MACHINE HITS TREE AND IS CONSUMED IN FLAMES WHICH FOLLOW

Hunters Rescue Unconscious Occupants from Blazing Car—Two are Taken to Hospital.

Traveling at a rapid rate of speed down the hill on the Wilkin Run road three miles east of the city late Sunday afternoon, an automobile driven by James Sparks skidded as it reached the sharp turn at the foot of the hill, left the road and crashed into a tree with such force that the front axle was partially wrapped about the tree. Sparks and his companion, Miss Laura Peters, suffered cuts and bruises but at the City Hospital it was stated that their injuries were not serious. The young people escaped death in the flames which destroyed the car, when hunters, who had been training their dogs, hurried to the rescue and lifted the dazed people from the car.

According to statements of people living nearby, who reached the scene soon after the accident, the Sparks machine was traveling east and descending the hill. Meeting another machine on the sharp turn, Sparks attempted to pass it. When the wheels of his car struck the sod along the road, it skidded and the driver lost control, and the car dashed across the short space between the road and the fence striking the tree, head on.

The crash attracted the attention of a young man named Moats and his companions, who had been in the fields during the afternoon training hunting dogs. They hurried to the scene and rescued Sparks and Miss Peters. Another couple occupying the rear seat of the car escaped injury.

The Crisis ambulance was called and conveyed the couple to the City Hospital.

A large number of automobiles gathered at the scene of the accident within a few moments. In attempting to turn his machine, one backed his machine down an embankment and into a deep hole. It turned over but the occupants were uninjured.

It was found impossible to get the car out of the hole and the Vogelmeier crew with derricks went to the scene this morning and rescued the machine.

SCIENTIST PREDICTS HARD WINTERS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS.

(Associated Press Telegram) Paris, Oct. 25.—The world's rain cycle beginning in 1902, which the French meteorological authority, Abbe Moreaux, director of the Bourges observatory, predicted as the result of his study of the sun's face, is now, the abbe says, ended. He forecasts a series, though not perhaps quite unbroken, of 26 hard winters, beginning the present year.

According to the abbe, it is impossible to say where in Europe the winter cold will be excessive, but probabilities are France will have to face many rigorous winter seasons during this period. He bases his prophecy regarding coming winter temperatures upon the supposition that the temperature curve all over the world can be calculated on the same principles as the world's rain curve.

MOTHER LEAVES BOILING WATER; CHILD IS DEAD

(Special to Advocate.) Fredonia, O., Oct. 25.—A sad death occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Barrick, residing one-half mile south of this village, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock when their little daughter Doris, two years of age, succumbed to burns which she received from boiling water.

Little Doris was playing about the house Saturday afternoon while her mother was busily engaged in scrubbing the kitchen and pantry. Mrs. Barrick had a bucket of scalding water which she was using in her work sitting upon the kitchen floor. She left the house for a moment to secure something needed in her work and the little girl came toddling into the kitchen. She went to the bucket and must have slipped pulling the hot water over her. Dr. Harry Rowland was immediately summoned and worked with the little girl for hours and while he was able to relieve her sufferings to some extent the little patient could not survive the shock. The parents are almost heartbroken and they have the sympathy of the entire community in their grief. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock from the M. E. church.

CRISIS PASSED; RUSSIAN ARMY IS YET INTACT

AUSTRO-GERMANS HAVE FAILED TO DEMORALIZE FORCES OF THE CZAR.

Who Wait in Confidence to be Ordered to a General Advance, Says Correspondent.

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Oct. 25.—The following statement from a high authority, representing the views of the Russian staff regarding the Russian military situation has been received here from the correspondent of the Times at Russian headquarters.

"From May until October, the Russian army has been subjected to interrupted blows along a front of 700 miles. The Austro-Germans have applied every possible means, not excepting such as are forbidden by international treaties, in order to increase the pressure against us. Masses of their troops were flung against this front and sent to destruction regardless of losses. Military history does not afford another example of such pressure.

"During these months of continuous and prolonged action the high qualities and the mettle of our troops under the difficulties and arduous conditions of retreat have been demonstrated afresh. Notwithstanding his obstinacy in fighting out maneuvers, the enemy is still confronted by an army which fully retains its strength and morale and its ability not only to offer staunch and successful resistance but to assume the offensive and inflict blows which have been demonstrated by the events of recent days.

"This affords the best proof that the Austro-Germans have failed to destroy or even disorganize our army.

Suspected of Conspiracy To Blow Up Munitions Factories, Two Men Are Arrested Today

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, Oct. 25.—Two men suspected by the police and federal secret service men of having been engaged in the conspiracy to blow up war munitions factories in this country and to destroy vessels carrying war supplies to Europe, were under arrest in Weehawken, N. J., today. Charges of having explosives in their possession were preferred against them by detectives who made preparation for their arraignment before a recorder in Weehawken today. Meanwhile, the authorities continued an investigation to discover whether in arresting the two men they had obtained the key to a long series of explosions on steamships, fires on piers and so-called accidents in various war munition plants.

Of the two prisoners, one giving his name as Robert Fay, was suspected by the police of being the director of their activities. Fay said he was a Lieutenant in the German army, had won the Iron Cross for bravery in the fighting in the Champagne district of France, and came to America last April. The police assert that Fay admitted he came here to work out a plan to stop the shipment of war munitions to the allies. Documents found in his room in Weehawken were said to show that he was connected with the German foreign office.

The other prisoner was Walter

These Enemies Now Within 35 Miles of Each Other

LARGE FORCE OF ALLIES

Is to Be Landed at Saloniki Which Would Satisfy Demands of Greece and Give Serbia Effectual Aid—Germans Capture Village Near Riga in Spite of Heavy Losses.

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Oct. 25.—Each succeeding telegram from the Balkans tells of the increasing gravity of Serbia's position. To the north, the Bulgarian and Austro-German forces are within 35 miles of joining hands. To the south half of Serbian Macedonia is in the hands of the Bulgarians if the reports of their capture of Uskup is correct. This would mean that the invaders have in their hands nearly all the means of communication.

The only favorable news from the stand-point of the entente powers is found in the optimistic reports concerning the Franco-Serbian offensive near Krivolak, where the Bulgarians are said to be giving way before the vigorous flank attack. In the British forces have left Saloniki no news of their movements has been disclosed. Reports from various sources say the entente powers have revised their original plans and now purpose to land a tremendous contingent at Saloniki. This would serve the double purpose of meeting the demands of Greece and of giving effective assistance to Serbia.

Athens reports that the Greek crown prince has gone to Saloniki, where he will view the inhuman stream of French and British fighting men. It is thought here that the strength of the forces ultimately landed may decide whether Greece will throw her lot with the allies.

Although the Serbians have not admitted the loss of Uskup, the English press accepts it as a fact, as it does the announcement that the Germans have crossed the Danube at Orsava. This means that with the Bulgarians holding Prhavovo, units of their forces with the Austrians and Germans in this quarter is now far off. Unless the Serbians or their allies can strike a sudden blow, the first link in the chain from Berlin to Constantinople will be forged.

Fighting on the Riga-Dvinsk front has broken out with renewed intensity. Though the Germans apparently have been losing heavily, they have captured the Village of Repe, south east of Riga, and have taken Loukist, northwest of Dvinsk. The tone of dispatches from Petrograd, however, is hopeful and while it is seen that Riga may fall, the belief is expressed that there will be no recurrence of the familiar dashing Teuton advance. The general view is that the Germans are planning a final spurt before settling down to winter quarters.

Suspected of Conspiracy To Blow Up Munitions Factories, Two Men Are Arrested Today

Scholz, who said he was Fay's brother-in-law, a mechanic and had been in this country for two years. A large quantity of explosives, including dynamite and various kinds of acid used in the making of explosives was found in the rooms the two men occupied in Weehawken or in a storage house in Hoboken. Among the devices seized by the police were peculiar bombs or mines believed to be designed to be fastened to the rudders of steamships.

At a garage in Weehawken the police found a high powered automobile held in Fay's name, and at a boathouse on the Hudson river a swift motorboat which he was said to own. In the boathouse they also found four wooden boxes, each containing 120 pounds of Chlorate of potash, one of the ingredients used in the manufacture of so-called sugar bombs in which water percolating into the receptacle melts the sugar releasing springs and causing an explosion.

The two men had been watched by detectives of the New York police department for two months. They were seen to pay frequent visits to an isolated spot in the woods of Grantwood, N. J., on the Palisades near Weehawken. On Saturday last detectives hidden in a tree tower watched the scene of their activities for eleven hours.

They saw the two men come there (Continued on Page 9, Col. 3.)

Newark High Humbles Chesty Mt. Vernon Eleven; Saturday Game Is Newark's, 13 to 0

Newark High athletes Saturday afternoon sprung a big surprise on the footballers from Mt. Vernon who came to Newark confident and fully determined to run up a big score on the local boys. The dope was spilled and Newark copped the game by a score of 13 to 0. The game was without doubt the most interesting game of football played here this season. It was the first for Newark High but there have been other games played and none of these compared with Saturday's contest in interesting features.

It must be admitted that Newark's scores were not made on straight football, but the result clearly showed that the quick thinker is the man who gets ahead in football as well as in any other undertaking.

Newark's first touchdown came when Mayser gobbled up a punt fumbled by Blair, and ran 15 yards across the goal line. The seven points which resulted from the touchdown looked like a whole lot for Newark was holding the visiting team in fairly good shape. The second touchdown came later in the game when Halfback Jones sprang into the air, intercepting a forward pass, and running 45 yards through a broken field, for six more points.

Newark people who have been wondering what sort of material was being developed by Coach Millisor in the local school, were impressed by the gameness and speed of the 1915 eleven. The weight which is much desired is absent but to overcome this is speed and good judgment.

No speedier back field has been brought out here for several years. And the ability of the line men to break through the opposing defense was indicated many times in the Saturday contest. More than a dozen times, Newark's linemen or back field men would crash through the Mt. Vernon defense and tackle the man with the ball, frequently for a loss of 10 yards.

If Mt. Vernon developed any weakness at all, it was in the failure of its line to prevent this invasion of sacred territory. In Hardin and Gilpin, Mt. Vernon has two splendid backfield men. Even Gilpin, who went into the Saturday contest in a more or less crippled condition, was able to make good gains until he was forced to retire in the third quarter. Hardin, a colored youth, was at times "unstoppable." About the only time he was tackled without gain was when a Newark man would break through the Mt. Vernon defense and get the colored gentleman around the legs from the rear. This happened several times, but Hardin, it must be admitted, was able to evade tackles which came at him where he could see them.

The game was played before a good sized crowd. Of course the spectators were mostly high school pupils but there was a good sprinkling of older football fans. Mt. Vernon's team was accompanied by about two dozen loyal rooters who cheered their team to the end.

Newark was in danger of being scored upon but once and that was late in the game. The ball, by a series of brilliant plays, was carried to the shadow of the Newark goal. Straight football failed to gain the distance and the Mt. Vernon captain called for an aerial attack.

The quarter failed to drop behind the line the required distance, and though the play was successful, the referee called the ball back after it had been placed behind the goal posts. The next pass was intercepted and the ball carried out of danger, then punted to the middle of the field. Mt. Vernon never threatened again.

Both sides punted frequently and Jones had the advantage of the Mt. Vernon artists. His punts, as a rule, were longer and after he increased the distance behind his defense, he was able to place his punts nicely with the added seconds of time which the greater distance gave him.

In the last quarter, Mt. Vernon gained ground on three fumbles by their own players. The play called was a line plunge and each time the quarterback fumbled the ball, but he plunged just the same and gained nicely on each play.

Mt. Vernon executed a trick play involving a triple pass which worked nicely though it failed to gain much ground because the line was unable to hold the fighting Newark boys. Keeping close track of the ball, the last man to receive it was tackled behind the line of scrimmage.

Newark's victory was particularly pleasing to the local rooters because Mansfield, which lost to Mt. Vernon 14 to 7, defeated Newark 44 to 7, and it required considerable optimism on the part of Newark rooters to see a victory for their team before Saturday's game was played.

DENISON TO PLAY WESTERN RESERVE ON NEXT SATURDAY

Granville, Oct. 25.—Denison's team will be in Cleveland next Saturday for a game with Western Reserve. Kenyon plays at Oberlin and Case meets Mt. Union at Alliance. Akron and Wooster get together at Akron and Oberlin has a trip to Huntington, W. Va., for a game with the Marshall eleven. Kentucky State will play in Cincinnati.

Cleveland Team Champions of Amateur Teams

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 25.—The White Autos of Cleveland yesterday won the amateur championship of the world exclusive of intercollegiate games, by beating decisively the South Tacoma, Wash., Tigers in the last of a series of three games. The game was a procession led by the Ohio boys, who outplayed the Tigers in every department.

Cleveland had 14 runs before Tacoma scored. In the third inning Eley, the Tigers' left-hand pitcher, was taken out, the Autos having eight hits off his delivery and tallied nine times. Score: R. H. ## DENISON VICTORY AT CINCINNATI EASILY WON Cincinnati, Oct. 25.—Denison University football team had little difficulty Saturday in smashing the defense line of the University of Cincinnati team and won the game by the score of 35 to 0. The upstate players featured their play with long runs and sensational kicks. Rupp was the bright star.

Denison scored its first touchdown in the first quarter. Captain Ladd slipped around the end for 25 yards and then Denison was held for downs. Richardson was forced to kick, and Denison's star, Rupp, returned it with a sensational 30-yard run. A moment later Hickman smashed over U. C.'s line. Ladd kicked goal. Brock, by a sensational 40-yard run, made the second touchdown. Ladd again kicked goal. Rupp ran 50 yards for the third touchdown in the first quarter and Ladd kicked goal.

In the second period Rupp gained 45 yards on a forward pass. Becker who replaced Jenkins, made one of the most remarkable plays ever seen on Carson Field when, after fumbling, he recovered the ball and sent a forward pass 25 yards to Hickman, who took it across for a touchdown. Ladd kicked goal. Rupp ran down the field on a forward pass from Becker for the fifth touchdown. Ladd again kicked goal. This was the final scoring of the day. Rupp's long runs through the broken field were the features of the play. Line-up:

WORLD'S SERIES WILL BE SHOWN AT AUDITORIUM

Manager Harry English received the world's series films this morning from the World's Series Film Co., having purchased the right to the pictures to be shown in Ohio. There are two sets of films of five reels each and Manager English after having them tried out at the Auditorium left immediately for Columbus to have them passed by the state board of censors and from there will go to Cincinnati where one set of pictures will be booked and arrangements made to show them in the larger cities of the state.

At Cincinnati it is expected that Mr. Gary Hermann, chairman of the National Baseball Commission, who is shown in the pictures with President John K. Tener of the National League and Ben Johnson, president of the American League, will be one of the first people to witness the pictures and that he will give Manager English a letter of approval, which will be used in advertising the pictures.

While attending the world's series at Philadelphia and Boston, Mr. Robert White of this city met Mr. Hermann, the two gentlemen having been acquainted for some years. Having attended the world's series championship games for a number of seasons, Manager English has a letter of introduction to Mr. Hermann and he with the friends whom he might care to invite will witness the pictures in advance of their public introduction to the Queen City fans.

Newark is the first city in Ohio to witness the Boston-Philadelphia games. Newspaper representatives together with a number of prominent fans were present when they were thrown upon the screen this morning. Each play is minutely explained in advance, being thrown upon the screen, and the play then follows. To make it more interesting for the spectators this morning Manager English requested Mr. Robert White to be present and that gentleman explained most of the scenes of the great series which was entertaining to everyone. Mr. White is well known to prominent baseball men and he occupied a press box immediately over the box occupied by President Woodrow Wilson and his fiancée, Mrs. Norman Wilson.

The pictures of the late world's series are of a high class, these being fourteen camera men upon the field. The players and different plays of the game are shown in such a manner that they are distinct to everyone. The pictures are bright and clear and all the celebrities and dignitaries well known players with Boston and Philadelphia are shown in advance of the beginning of the game. The great crowd of 25,000 spectators at Philadelphia league park is shown on opening day and then the crowd of 45,000 is shown at the Boston Braves' field. These mammoth crowds are also depicted leaving the parks.

At the second game President Wilson and Mrs. Galt are seen entering their box. The president is greeted by Mayor Blankenship of Philadelphia. The president is shown throwing the first ball into the diamond and is presented the ball afterwards by Manager Pat Moran. The presidential party is again shown leaving in their automobile after the game.

The pictures are well worth seeing. They will be shown tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night in connection with the great picture, "The Heart of the Blue Ridge," ten reels of pictures, all for one price of admission, which has been placed at 10 cents.

A Queen's Collection.
Queen Victoria, whose wedding shoes are advertised for sale, was herself a keen collector of historical relics. At a sale held in November, 1899, she commissioned a well-known dealer to secure for her a walking stick, carved to represent "Wisdom and Folly," once the property of Prince Charles Edward. The royal agent had carte blanche and the stick was knocked down to him for £160. This was a monstrous price when we consider that shortly before the young pretender's dirk, with flintlock pistol attached, realized only £3 15s, while the great Rob Roy's clavmore, made by Andrea Ferrara, with its shark's skin grip and all, went for £37 16s. At the Stuart exhibition, organized in London some 20 years ago, a number of most interesting exhibits came from Queen Victoria's collection.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Here's The Best News of The Season

A Manufacturers' Surplus Stock of Suits

$15.00 and $16.95 Garments, Choice $9.95

This Timely Event Begins Tomorrow at 8 a. m.

Here's The Full Particulars

It's to Your Interest to Absorb This

Talk about out of the ordinary happenings, here's one that will bring hundreds of women to the store in the morning. Never before at such an early date in the season was it possible to secure such values as these. One of Newark's leading manufacturers has discontinued making suits for the balance of the season and concentrated all of his efforts on coats. He had a certain amount of suits on hand which he desired to close out at once. He made us an offer which was so ridiculously low that it was impossible for us to refuse. Now our good fortune is yours too. Instead of marking these suits at prices they would ordinarily bring, we are going to give you the advantage of the great price concession we received. You will like these suits at first sight. They are fashioned from wool poplin in black, navy, copen, Russian green and African brown. Tailored in the very new box coat style becomingly set off with silk braid trimming New Chin Chin collar of fine silk velvet. All linings are guaranteed for two seasons' wear. These garments are absolutely the best $15.00 and $16.95 values and cannot be duplicated for less money. Commencing tomorrow morning at 8 a. m., take your choice of the entire assortment, at each

The Logical Coat Store

Greater Variety—Better Styles—Lower Prices.

From every style center, from every leading coat manufacturer, come these handsome new garments that you have heard so many women speak about. Our customers tell us its the greatest showing ever displayed in Newark, but we'll leave that to your judgment after you have seen them. We do know this though, every style and fabric that is in good taste can be found in this authentic display. A complete line of Salt's Fur and pile fabrics heads the list, then comes a wonderful variety of the new soft mixtures in a wealth of colors and patterns. It's beyond us to describe the hundreds of styles, but we want to urge you to come and see them. A wonderful range of

DOANE DEFEATS AQUINAS ELEVEN AT GRANVILLE

Granville, Oct. 25.—Aquinas of Columbus was outweighed and outscored here Saturday when the team faced Doane Academy, the final count being 31 to 6 in favor of the Granville eleven. The capital city team started out with a punch, taking the offensive and rushing the ball over Doane's line after a series of bucks and short passes. Sites making the touchdown. The Griffith-Kull forward passes were the chief features in the scoring line. Two 25-yard passes resulting in scores, while McCullum was a sure gainer on bucks for Doane. Sites plowed through Doane's line for Aquinas' best gains. The lineup:

MT. HERMON CHURCH DEDICATION, NOV. 7.

The Mt. Hermon church in the southeastern part of McKean township, which was purchased for the United Brethren last spring, and which has undergone extensive repairs, will be dedicated on Sunday, November 7, 1915, by three services.

The church has been re-roofed, repainted, plastered, papered, new windows installed and many other substantial improvements made, making it in excellent condition for regular church and Sunday school services which will start with the dedication day.

Edwin M. Larason will speak at 10:30 and organize a Sabbath school. Rev. A. B. Cox, pastor of the Newark East Main Street U. B. church, will speak at 2:30 in the afternoon and organize the church. Rev. M. R. White, pastor of the Newark Tenth Street church will speak in the evening at 7:30 and conduct the dedicatory services, and the church will be thrown open to the public for regular worship.

The choir work will be strengthened by violins and cornets, the East Main Street Male chorus, and the Tenth Street Church Male Octet and many others will aid in making the song service pleasant and profitable.

Both Newark churches will send large delegations, and a great day is expected, as the church is located only about seven miles northwest of this city and the roads are good.

ALL EMPLOYES BUT MACHINISTS RETURN TO WORK

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 25.—With the exception of members of the Machinists' Union, virtually all the 13,000 employees of the General Company who have been on strike three weeks for an eight-hour day returned to work today. The machinists, between 2,500 and 3,000 in number, remained out in accordance with the vote of their union last night not to accept the agreement between the company and the strikers' grievance committee. The machinists were locked out of the picket lines this morning, but made no demonstration as the men of other crafts returned to the shops.

LOCKOUT CLAIMED BY MACHINISTS OF CLEVELAND UNION.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Cleveland, Oct. 25.—According to statements made by Machinists' Union officials this forenoon, the National Acme Manufacturing Company, this morning locked out one thousand employees. This followed an attempt by the company to have its employees sign an agreement to work ten hours per day for ten hours' pay, union leaders claim. The men declined to sign the agreement, they say.

The situation is the outgrowth of the 8-hour day movement among machinists here which has resulted in several strikes. There are now 1,000 machinists of the Peerless Motorcar company on strike here. Several concerns have yielded to the machinists' demands.

State Deputy Warden N. S. Sherburne and District Deputy W. S. Brandriff of the M. W. of A. left today for Toledo to attend the annual State School of Instruction.

The World War a Year Ago Today—Oct. 25.

On the Pilica river line, Poland, a desperate battle went against the Austro-Germans, who withdrew west of Lodz toward the river Warthe near the German border.

Battle of violent nature raged around Nieport and the river Lys, in Belgium, the Germans taking the offensive. Southwest of Lille the German advance was repulsed.

The allies were re-enforced in Belgium.

In East Prussia the Germans continued to press eastward and on the Vistula.

South of Warsaw the Austrians claimed a victory over the Russians.

GERMANY MAKES ANOTHER APOLOGY TO SWITZERLAND

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 25.—via Paris.—The federal government announces the German minister has expressed his government's deep regret for the act of a German aviator in dropping bombs recently on Chaux de Fonds and has promised to pay indemnity for the death or injury of Swiss citizens and damage to property. The minister explained that the aviator who dropped the bombs had lost his way and believed himself over French territory. He and his observer have been punished and transferred.

SERBIANS TURN UPON INVADERS; ARE SUCCESSFUL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, Oct. 25.—The Serbians in some sectors have turned on the invaders with considerable success, they report, capturing several guns. A delayed official statement filed on Saturday at Nish by the Havas correspondent, follows:

"One of our columns made a counter attack on the right bank of the Mlaka in the direction of Alioud Dva on October 21. We took two mountain cannon, two machine guns and two field kitchens. We also made successfully an counter attack at the village of Rachatzka and captured horses and machine guns.

"Fighting continued with desperation on the northern front on October 22, but without change of position.

"On the eastern (Bulgarian) front the situation is unchanged although fighting continues. Engagements occurred in new regions—Krivola, Veleze, and Skotile."

GRATIOT WOMAN ON NERV-WORTH

Mrs. Sarah Bonfield Says Great Nerve Tonic Did Her a World of Good.

None of the local Nerv-Worth endorsements have made a greater impression on victims of nervous ailments than that written some time ago by Mrs. Sarah Bonfield of the Gratiot neighborhood. For the benefit of readers who missed seeing her statement it is here repeated:

"I have been troubled with nervous ailments for a number of years. It gave me such distress and worry that I tried many things in the effort to get well. But the only medicine that helped me was Nerv-Worth. I certainly can praise it very highly. I advise all who are nervous and run down as I was, to take this wonderful remedy."

Buy a bottle of Nerv-Worth at the T. J. Evans drug store, Warden Block. They'll refund your dollar if the medicine doesn't help. Adv.

BULGAR'S ATTEMPT TO CUT RAILROAD COMPLETELY FAILS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Gradek, Serbia, via Salonika, Oct. 25, 7:00 p. m. and Paris, Oct. 25.—The double attempt of the Bulgarians to cut the railway at Velez and in the Volandovo sector has been completely defeated. Yesterday, Friday, the attack on Velez was given up and the entire available Bulgarian strength was directed southward from Istin along the Gradek river spreading out over a five-mile front and comprising the villages of Babrova, Volandovo, Piraud, Vezel, Kalkova, Kochova, and Hodova, with its objective a short stretch where the railway, running along the east bank of the Vardar river between two bridges, is the most pregnable at the Strumitsa station.

The attack although furious immediately developed the inferiority of the Bulgarians in contact with the experienced troops of France and England. Heavy losses are reported along the entire line. The Bulgarians are withdrawing up the Gradek valley, are leaving the French in possession of the railway from Salonika to Negotin beyond which point the line is not threatened.

The French losses were slight. General Serrail, the French commander-in-chief, in a statement to the Associated Press, characterized the Bulgarian reports of their advance as fantastic. Nowhere, he said, have they advanced beyond a few undefined points of no military value close to the frontier.

HOLDUP VICTIM LOSES $2; COPS ARREST 2 MEN

Ernest Brown and George Jackson, both colored, were arrested last night by Officers Beuhler and Shaw and lodged at the city prison slated "investigation." This morning charges of highway robbery were filed against them. Jim George, a foreigner, claims the two men held him up and robbed him of $2.

Following a hearing before Mayor Bigbee, Brown and Jackson were held to the grand jury. Their bonds were fixed at $500 each.

Brown claims his home is in Portsmouth, O., and Jackson says he is from Parkersburg, W. Va. Two train riders drew fines of $1 and costs and five drunks drew fines of $5 and costs. One of these was a nurse who claimed her home was in Columbus.

GERMANS DEFEND THE EXECUTION OF MISS CAVELL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, Oct. 25.—By Wireless to Saville.—Germany's enemies apparently are anxious to counteract the indignation aroused by the fact that German sailors on a sinking submarine who had surrendered and held up their hands were shot down one after another, says the Overseas News Agency. "For this purpose they are giving wide publicity to invented stories about sentences by court-martial against conspirators in Brussels."

"The fact is that the conspirators knew what they were doing and what they might expect under the law. The conspiracy was carried on during a period of nine months, and countless soldiers were helped to join the armies now fighting against Germany."

"The German judges faced the alternative of giving way to their natural feelings of pity and endangering the country by encouraging similar enterprises, or of applying the law."

"All stories about the details of one of these executions in Brussels are pure inventions. The court martial proceeded in a most careful manner and cleared up everything. The execution was a sad necessity, but was carried out as prescribed by law without incident."

STOLEN AUTO IS RECOVERED; TWO UNDER ARREST

Police Chief J. S. Sheridan went to Elvira this morning to take into custody L. H. Porter of Chatham and Ed Fardshaw of Newcomerstown, held by the Elvira police on charges of stealing the automobile of Earl Martin of Black Run, three weeks ago. The machine was stolen from in front of the Methodist church and although a prompt investigation was made, it could not be located. Cards with the machine description were sent broadcast and this resulted in the apprehension of the two men at Elvira. The machine was recovered.

"ALL-YEAR" CAR.

The advent of the convertible car has developed an interesting situation. Kissel brought it out last year and applied a name and gave it wide newspaper publicity. The public responded and this year other manufacturers began to make detachable tops. Then something happened. The trade name Kissel originated and applied, the "ALL-YEAR CAR," began to creep into the literature and advertising of other manufacturers. At this juncture Kissel stepped in and said "stop!"

"We expected competitors to follow us on the ALL-YEAR CAR, as they did on the divided front seat and the two-door body," says George A. Kissel, president of the Kissel Motor Car Company, "but we must object to the use of our trade name. We designed and brought out the Convertible Car in 1914, and to make the identity of our product doubly sure, we applied the trade name 'ALL-YEAR CAR' and spent thousands of dollars to let the public know about it."

BANKRUPT NERVES

Each of us has a certain supply of nervous energy. Every day, even though, uses up some part of this energy. During rest and sleep the supply is increased by the blood which gets the needed elements from the air we breathe and the food we eat.

Your nervous energy is like a bank account. If you use it up faster than you add to it you overdraw your account. Neurasthenia is the name given to nervous bankruptcy. It means that the power to recuperate is gone.

The blood can be built up so that it will increase the supply of needed elements to the wasted nerves and this is the only way that the nerves can be reached. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that especially builds up the nerves because they supply to the blood the elements that the nerves need. Many nervous disorders, sometimes chronic ones, have yielded to this tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when other methods failed to give relief. They are certainly worthy of a trial in every case of weak nerves and thin blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere or will be sent by mail postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free book on the nerves.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat, which clogs kidneys, then back hurts and bladder bothers you.

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, eat sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

BRILLIANT MOVE TURNS FLANK OF BULGARIAN ARMY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, Oct. 25.—French troops gained a brilliant success by attacking a junction with the Serbs at Krivola, says a dispatch to the Petit Parisien from Athens. The dispatch dated Sunday, says:

"Bulgarian troops in force were attacking in three columns, when our troops by a daring maneuver turned the Bulgarians right flank while the Serbs launched an energetic counter attack all along the front. At the end of the day, the Bulgarians beat a retreat in the direction of Strumitsa, pursued by French troops and Serbian cavalry."

"Bulgarian operations against Pirot were fruitless, therefore they seem to intend to concentrate efforts on Vranja and are trying attack in mass formation on fortifications and positions occupied by the Serbs at Vranja."

"The Bulgarians are stopped on the Timok while the Austro-Germans are held up on the northwestern front on the Save and Danube. Military circles here believe that the Austro-Germans will not resume the offensive in the north until the Bulgarians by gaining a definite success are able to affect a junction with them."

DUMBA TREATED WITH COURTESY ON HIS VOYAGE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, Oct. 25.—via London.—Dr. C. T. Dumba, former Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Washington, who arrived here yesterday from the United States today gave out the following statement:

"As to the causes which necessitated my return to Vienna, I need not go into detail. The case has been treated so fully in the press that it is unnecessary to review it.

"But if you ask me if the tales are true, which were spread about my trip which reached a climax in the report that people on board the steamer avoided me I can only reply that the opposite is true. My wife and I felt ourselves under the necessity of conducting ourselves with reserve toward our fellow travelers. It was they who approached us."

"I can only say that not only Americans, but also the British marine officers on board were most friendly to us in every respect. During our landing and stay at Falmouth, we were treated with every courtesy by British officers."

The most widespread disease in the world

The most widespread disease in the world today is that dread affliction of the teeth called pyorrhea. Nine out of every ten grown persons have it to some extent. You may have it and be unaware of it. Why? Because scientists have proved that the cause of this disease is a germ which inhabits every human mouth, and that thousands have this disease and do not realize it until it reaches the advanced stages of bleeding gums and loose teeth.

Accept the advice dentists everywhere are giving and take special precautions in your daily toilet against this disease. To meet the need for such a daily treatment and to enable everyone to take the necessary precautions against this disease, a prominent dentist has put his own prescription before the public in the convenient form of Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco contains the best corrective and preventive for pyorrhea known to dental science. Used daily it will successfully protect your teeth from this disease. Senreco also contains the best harmless agent for keeping the teeth clean and white. It has a refreshing flavor and leaves a wholesomely clean, cool and pleasant taste in the mouth.

Start the Senreco treatment tonight—full details in the folder wrapped around every tube. Symptoms described. A 25c two oz. tube is sufficient for six or eight weeks of the pyorrhea treatment. ## Sheriff's Fees.

A serious minded man asked us yesterday if the Tribune's assertion about Sheriff Slabaugh's fees were true. The Tribune alleged that Mr. Slabaugh drew $53,000 in fees. It is probable that the figures are correct. At least the Tribune says they were taken from the records but the Newark American Tribune is still playing old time, discredited and out of date politics by stating a partial truth and not giving all the facts to its readers. Any honest newspaper, even a party organ, would tell its readers that this sum drawn by Mr. Slabaugh did not represent his earnings from the office as out of the sum drawn the sheriff had to pay the jail expenses, prisoners' food, etc. amounting to hundreds of dollars every month. The Tribune's story was so ridiculously absurd that no serious attention has been paid to it.

Rest assured, Mr. Slabaugh drew no fees that were not perfectly legal and note this further fact, that the fees now being drawn by Sheriff Charles H. Swank are larger than the fees drawn by Mr. Slabaugh.

Candidate Slabaugh came honestly and honorably by every dollar he possesses. It may be well to remember that fact and to think of it just as you mark your ballot on Tuesday of next week.

"Frank E. Slabaugh for Mayor" is a slogan of Newark business men who know his record and efficiency.

The members of the Hamilton Willing Workers club will call an indignation meeting after the election and compare notes to find out just how many of them were promised positions in the department of state inspector of workshops and factories.

The personnel of the Democratic ticket has been highly complimented by scores of Republicans in various sections of the city. They are men of integrity and ability and will make excellent officials.

Daily History Class—Oct. 25.

1415—Battle of Agincourt, Henry V. of England, with 15,000 men, almost destroyed the French army of 50,000 after a battle of four hours. Nearly all the French leaders fell; also 120 princes and nobles, 8,400 knights, squires and gentlemen of birth.

1806—General Henry Knox, Washington's secretary of war, died at Thomaston, Me.; born 1750.

1913—Mexican Constitutionalists (Maderistas) captured Monterey.

1914—German siege guns on the Belgian coast repulsed British warships in the channel.

Slabaugh and Bigbee

"Look at our town," said a well known man as he was discussing the present campaign with a friend yesterday. You don't see any of the saloons open do you? You don't hear of any of them remaining open after midnight, do you? You don't hear of much saloon disturbance nowadays, do you?"

The talker went on in a similar vein for a minute or two and driving home his point with all the force at his command, declared: "Mayor Bigbee is responsible for this condition of affairs. He has made the saloons close up and he deserves the support of our people."

Let us be fair and frank about this question. If Mr. Bigbee is responsible for all the good work that General Hamilton and his co-workers attribute to him, he ought to have the credit for it. On the other hand, the mayor deserves all the credit to which he is entitled and no more.

Up to the present time the saloon problem has been an important factor in every municipal campaign but the new liquor license law has changed conditions.

VOTERS OF NEWARK, DO YOU REALIZE THAT IF MAYOR BIGBEE HAD PERSONALLY CALLED UPON EVERY SALOON KEEPER IN THE CITY SATURDAY EVENING AND HAD TOLD EACH ONE OF THEM THAT SO FAR AS HE WAS CONCERNED EVERY ONE MIGHT KEEP HIS PLACE OF BUSINESS OPEN ON SUNDAY, PRACTICALLY EVERY SINGLE ONE OF THE SALOONS WOULD HAVE REMAINED CLOSED ON SUNDAY JUST THE SAME?

Why? Because of the license law which provides for revocation of the saloon licenses for violation of the law. O. C. Larason and Ray Martin are the liquor license commissioners for Licking county. They are the men behind the gun. They are the men who say who shall have the liquor licenses and who shall not.

There has been a divorce between the mayoralty and the saloon business. Some of the saloon men are working for the election of one of the candidates for mayor and other saloon keepers of Newark are working for the other candidate, as they all have a perfect right to do. But don't get it into your head that all are on one side by any means.

Some of the people of this town need to be aroused and awakened to the real situation and if any one is under the impression that the present administration is exceedingly righteous he should look around a bit and make some inquiries.

Give Mr. Bigbee credit for all that he has done but don't set him upon a pedestal and claim for him and his administration credit that belongs to the liquor license law and to the license commissioners and to the saloon keepers themselves, who in a large number have shown a spirit to uphold the new license law by obeying its provisions.

This brings us to the Slabaugh platform. Frank E. Slabaugh whose record for law enforcement while he was sheriff of this county is indeed good, states in no uncertain terms that if elected mayor of Newark next week he will enforce all the laws on the statute books and in his enforcement of the law he will show neither fear nor favoritism.

Frank Slabaugh will give Newark a good administration and it should not be forgotten that he is qualified to fill every situation that a mayor is required to face.

The Newark Subway

The criticism of the issuance of the subway bonds contained in a letter from "One of the People" in last Saturday's Advocate was the personal view of the writer and illustrates one result of the muddling of the subway matter by the present administration.

However from the first the Advocate has been a staunch supporter of the subways and it would feel like criticizing the administration from two different angles.

First, there was inexcusable delay in issuing the subway bonds in that in negotiating with the railways the city needed the moral support of having the money for its part of the work in the treasury and whatever progress has been made since that time has been due to the fact that the money was there. City Auditor Dodd's blunder in his first advertisement of the subway bonds has in fact postponed the building of the subways several months.

Second, the year 1914 ought to have been used by the present administration in getting the contract with the railroads all ready to sign so that it could have been signed at once when the bonds were sold and the money put into the treasury. If this course had been pursued a large part of the subway work would have been done by now.

In fact the whole muddling of the subway matter by the present administration can only be explained by gross inefficiency or something worse.

We believe that the people of the south end who are vitally interested in the subways will not again be hoodwinked as they were two years ago and will vote for the whole Democratic ticket and PUT THE SUBWAYS IN THE HANDS OF ITS FRIENDS.

Little Willie's Questions

Willie—Pa, who is the president of the Newark school board?

Father—William C. Christian.

Willie—Who is the director of public service?

Father—William C. Christian, son Willie—Well, then who is it that has charge of the water works?

Father—Mr. Christian.

Willie—Gee whiz, is he the whole thing? Who looks after the electric lighting plant?

Father—Don't you remember, William, that in the recent electric light controversy Mr. Christian took one side of the argument and Mr. Dayton, the safety director, the other while Mayor Bigbee played the role of neutral? Mr. Christian is in charge of the light plant.

Willie—Mr. Christian has some job, hasn't he dad?

Father—Yes, William. That's why Mr. Bigbee had Mr. Christian's salary raised from $1500 to $2100.

Willie—Who is the man who looks after the street cleaning and street improvements?

Father—William C. Christian.

Willie—I think I begin to understand what the paper meant when it said that a vote for Mr. Bigbee was a vote for Mr. Christian.

Father—You're learning, son.

Hamilton Is Busy.

Assistant Fire Marshal Colonel George H. "Boss Cox" Hamilton is conducting the same old familiar campaign insinuations against the Democratic candidates. He can be found any day at any time in the Republican campaign headquarters in West Main street instructing his messengers and the latter can then be seen darting from the office to carry the latest to party workers

Governor Willis has been apparently playing straight with Cincinnati so far as surface indications go, and is keeping up the game with the crowd that elected him. He is not going to take part in the campaign for prohibition nor against the stability league amendment. Though he will vote "dry" as a citizen he will remain neutral as governor in keeping with the demand of the anti-prohibition crowd that backed him for election. It looks now like those "wets" who voted for the "dry" Willis had a clear understanding of affairs.

UNCLE'S NEW MODEL.

School Board Ticket.

G. W. Avery.
C. E. Comer.
James K. Dewey.
Seth W. Haight.
Benjamin Hendricks.
Frank L. Johnson.
John M. Mitchell.
Benjamin Montgomery.
C. L. Riley.

Vote for three. The three men elected on November 2 together with William C. Christian and William E. Miller will constitute the new Board of Education. Choose the three best men.

This is the last week of the campaign and as yet the American Tribune has utterly ignored the suggestion to discuss the qualifications of the two candidates for mayor. To be real truthful, we don't blame the Tribune very much.

The School Board.

To the School Board Voters of Newark:

In view of the fact that some false rumors concerning my candidacy for Board of Education that are unworthy of a moment's consideration are in circulation and persist in going the rounds, I am compelled to state some plain facts.

Some crafty politician or politicians—men who have not any vital interests in the public schools, have injected into this school board election some things that are unworthy the slightest consideration of the fair-minded and honest voters.

Ten or twelve days ago these designing and unscrupulous creatures began the process of arraying one class of our citizens against another. As a result they have purposefully created a huge cloud of smoke so that the real merits and qualifications of the candidates would not be seen or investigated. As sure as day follows night, the real subtle motive is petty politics.

Again, no one has any right or any ground to report, behind my back, that I now, or may HERE-AFTER say, do, or premeditate certain dire things that I never thought of even for one instant until the "poisonous fumes" of them reached me about ten days ago from two precincts of the First Ward. Neither have they any conceivable right to fabricate some huge and hideous hobgoblin that might possibly, somehow, sometime and somewhere rise up in my pathway and become an hindrance to fearless, careful and honest service as a board member. Such cant is not on the square nor is it becoming the dignity of the populace of this city.

Now, in regard to the superintendent of our schools, these same crafty creatures, the REAL enemies of our local schools, have dragged him into this election for purely selfish reasons. While they do not want him out they want to fetter him so that personal ends may be attained and the efficiency of the schools reduced.

Now, voters, denying as absolutely false and unfair these slanders that have been circulated about my purposes I want to say for myself a few things.

First—I have a just right to be a candidate for the Board of Education because I feel that I am fairly well qualified. A native of this township, I have back of me a completed college course, nine years of experience as a teacher—two of which were in our High School, and eight years of active business experience.

Second—I shall have a boy in the Woodside school next year and necessarily will have the best interests of the public schools uppermost.

Third—I heartily endorse Superintendent Hawkins and his platform as he stated it clearly and concisely a few evenings ago.

Fourth—I will be in favor of any effort that will bring about a state uniform system of text books which will reduce their cost at least one-fourth.

Fifth—I am a property owner and therefore permanently interested in the development of the city.

Now, being a firm believer in fair play and feeling that Newark citizens in general will not permit rank injustice knowingly, I assure you that should I be elected to membership the highest ideals of the American school system will be carefully cherished to the best of my ability. I assure you also that efficiency as well as economy will be kept prominently in mind.

Let me again urge that dirty, underhanded politics be kept out of school affairs, that you give each candidate's qualification proper and courteous consideration, then honestly and without prejudice vote your best opinions. May the three best men win.

Sincerely yours,
BENJ. M. HENDRICKS.

Safety First Omissions.

Some of the laws recommended for enactment by the Safety First Federation of America, which closed its convention in Detroit on Wednesday, live up to the name of the association, but others seem like putting safety second, or far into the background. The resolutions say it might be well to license owners of automobiles as well as drivers; safety zones and cross walks should be installed by municipalities; automobiles being required to approach them under control; license plates should be standardized and it should be obligatory to illuminate them at night. The proposed speed limit of 10 miles an hour in congested districts is liberal enough and could well be cut down in the case of machines turning corners.

Pedestrians who are obliged to cross Grant boulevard at Grant street, opposite the upper end of Oliver avenue, and who are frequently halted by a procession of automobiles entering the boulevard and rounding the corner at high speed, would welcome some kind of regulation to lessen the rapidity of the motor car's progress at that point. A law requiring automobiles to keep a certain number of feet apart so that pedestrians could cross without waiting for a long string of cars to go by, would be appreciated. The Safety First Federation ignored such contingencies.

But where the convention fell short was in the proposed enactment concerning intoxicated chauffeurs. It would have such men deprived of their license for a period of six months for the first offense, while permanent disqualification from holding a permit would result only upon conviction of a second offense. Accidents happen often enough to careful automobile drivers, still oftener to reckless but sober ones, and most frequently with those who are drunk. A law permanently disqualifying the drunken man who drives an automobile would not be too drastic. If the safety of the people at large and of automobile drivers themselves is to be considered.

Rippling Rhymes

The Crazy War.

When the flags have ceased to flutter over ambush, siege and rout, then perhaps the kings will mutter.

"What was all this scrap about? We have torn our lands asunder, it has been a dandy war, but the time has come to wonder what in blitzen was it for?"

Now that for a little season we have ceased our gory fun, we'll have time to find a reason for the butchering we've done." They'll have time, the kings and princes to ransack each loyal mind, but a reason that convinces will be mighty hard to find. For a while they will endeavor, each to vindicate his crown, but the true excuse will never from a throne be handed down. If an honest, candid kinglet told the truth, he would declare, "By my halidom and cinglet, we were loaded up for bear; at each other we'd been yapping, springing warlike threat and curse, and we had to do some scrapping. Just to show we had the nerve, we were wild and we were woolly, on each shoulder was a chip, and we had to act the bully, or we feared we'd lose our grip." Still the reeking cannon thunder, and there is no sign of peace, and the sickened nations wonder what's become of the police.

THE HOUSEKEEPER'S PROBLEM.

The housekeeper, if she be a mother of a large family, is weighed down with worries and cares.

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life, when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances. Many Ohio people testify.

Dayton, Ohio.—"It is a pleasure to recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was used for female trouble. I had used other remedies with little benefit. I was dragging around and tired-out but when I had taken several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' I was much stronger and better; it did me more good than any medicine I ever took. I shall always recommend it and will use it again if I need it."

Mrs. NELLIE M. ALLEN, 113 Buckeye St., Dayton, Ohio.

Coshocton, Ohio.—"I used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and found it a reliable woman's medicine. I used one bottle. It helped me just as I expected and was a benefit in every way."—Mrs. C. B. HOWELL, 345 5th St., Coshocton, Ohio.

If you will pay the mailing charges, Doctor Pierce will send you his cloth bound book of over 1,000 pages, newly revised with color plates and illustrations. Everyone should read and have it in case of accident or sickness in the home.

On Saturday, Miss Margaret Fuller, accompanied her Sunday school class of Trinity Episcopal church on a hike to the woods in search of nuts. Miss Fuller had prepared an appetizing lunch to which the boys did justice.

Those who enjoyed the outing were: Robert Garrison, Harry Bowers, Nick Symonds, Maurice Kreager, Misses Helen and Margaret Fuller.

The Alpha Sewing Circle met at the home of Mrs. William Keckley, October 20, 1915, with eleven members present. Mrs. Walter Laird favored the circle with choice music on the piano. It was decided to have a masquerade party on November 4, Thursday evening, at the home of Mrs. Walter Laird. A dainty lunch was served the members and following guests: Mrs. D. L. Keckley, Mrs. L. M. Gossnell, Mrs. Timmen, Mrs. James Layman, Miss Glenn Ferguson.

A Nationful of Cripples.

From Marseilles northeastward and so on to Paris, France, after one leaves the southern gateway is one vast hospital. The streets of every town are full of convalescents, with heads bandaged, with arms in slings, limping on crutches—all men that a year ago, were in the pink of health and at the topnotch of efficiency; many of them, if they can be made whole, soon to return to the trenches. Not a few have been back and forth from the front, wounded and cured, as many as three times. Batches of unwarmed have been "lent" for a fortnight to fill their fields. The hospitals are often full, but though there is adequate care of the war patients, there is no encouragement for the ordinary cases for the care of which these hospitals were originally intended; civilian sick must take their chances in their forsaken homes. The surgeons are overworked and I have already mentioned the conversion of the schoolhouses into hospitals. All women of France are, in some way, serving their country, mostly as nurses; even the children help to serve. In a thousand ways, war has swallowed life. Yet at the periphery of Chambery I was told that I might officially say that no word of protest against the war has been made; war has become a normal condition.—Christian Herald.

The most striking part of the model is the fact that the flaring coat is seven inches shorter than the usual coat of the riding habit.

MEMORIAL PARK VISITED SUNDAY BY MANY PEOPLE

Hundreds of people took advantage of the splendid weather yesterday and motored to outlying points of interest over the county. It was a typical summer day, or rather a typical Indian summer Sunday. The thermometer was at 66 during the afternoon and the evening also was very pleasant.

Memorial Park near Black Run, Muskingum county, was a favorite spot for the motorists and scores of Newarkites called there to view the splendid work of art turned out from native sandstone which crops out of the ground on the farm of Bryce Baughman, that gentleman being the sculptor. He has a number of statues on his place, his latest being one of Gen. U. S. Grant, which has been dedicated to the G. A. R. of this city. The statues are all of life-size and are the more remarkable when it is known that Mr. Baughman never attended an art school for sculpture but simply designed or sculptured rather from prints.

Memorial Park is becoming quite famous and is the mecca for numerous auto parties. It is a beautiful place, up a high hill overlooking a valley whose scenic beauty would be hard to surpass any place in the state. If good fortune should come to Mr. Baughman in the way of having an interurban line pass his place his land would increase by bounds into the thousands for it is a natural park with beautiful scenic surroundings that would attract thousands of people to view its grandeur.

The Advocate is under obligations to Mr. John McClary, R. D. No. 2, Hebron, Ohio, for a sack of delicious apples, among the varieties of perfect apples were Bullhoppers, Northern Spies, Rambos, Jefferson Sweets and Sweet Doctors.

ENLISTS CHILDREN IN THE NAVY LEAGUE

Mrs. Benjamin Reeves Russell.

Mrs. Benjamin Reeves Russell, wife of Lieut. Col. Russell of the U. S. marine corps, is the organizer of a children's auxiliary to the Navy League of the United States. The purpose of this new organization is to interest the children of America in preparedness for defense and the doctrine of "America First." Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, also well known as a leader of the D. A. R., is the honorary chairman of the woman's section under whose direction the movement is going forward.

Obituary

Death of Mrs. John Keefe.
Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Maime Keefe, at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Keefe is the wife of Mr. John Keefe and they formerly resided in West Main street, this city. After leaving Newark about three years ago they moved to Chicago, but Mrs. Keefe has been ill at her mother's home in Delaware for the past month. She underwent an operation at Mt. Carmel Hospital on Sunday morning and never rallied from the shock of the operation.

The body will be taken to Delaware where the funeral services will be held.

Mr. Blime's Funeral.
The funeral of David Blime, who died Saturday morning at his home in Vanatta, was held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Vanatta. Burial was made in the Wilson cemetery.

B. F. Broome.
B. F. Broome, father of Wm. H. Broome, secretary of the Citizens Building and Loan Association, and a former well known glass blower of this city, died at his home in Lovers Lane, three miles south of this city, Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock, after a short illness since Friday night of indigestion.

Mr. Broome's death comes as a great shock to his legion of friends, but few of whom were aware of his sudden illness. Mr. Broome was one of the oldest bottle blowers in this city, having come here in 1876. He was an expert at his profession which he followed for a number of years and later purchased the farm where he was residing when overtaken by the hand of death. Mr. Broome took a great deal of pride in his farm and it was known as one of the best in that vicinity. He made a splendid neighbor, was generous to a fault and was highly respected by all who knew him.

Mr. Broome was born in the state of New Jersey on January 14, 1848, and was therefore past 67 years of age. He came to this county in 1876 with his family and has resided here continuously since. His wife preceded him to the grave three years ago and another daughter, Mrs. W. F. Seymour, died a year ago. There is left to survive a kind and loving father, two children, Mrs. May Jameson, who made her home with her father, and the son, Wm. H. Broome, of this city. A grandson, A. E. Jameson, who had always made his home with his grandfather also survives as does three other grandchildren, William H. Broome Jr., and Dorothy and Carl Broome.

Funeral services will be held at the Broome home in Lovers Lane road at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and interment will be made at Cedar Hill cemetery.

AUDIENCE WAS PLEASED WITH NEW QUARTETTE.

"The Court House Quartette," a musical organization composed of Prosecutor J. W. Horner, County Clerk Bert O. Horton, Hon. Edward Kibler, Sr., and I. B. Warthen furnished music at the Young People's meeting of the U. B. church at Amsterdam, on the Linville pike a short distance east of Jacksonville, and whose pastor is Rev. Edward M. Larson of this city, the quartette having accepted the latter's invitation to assist in the services.

The little edifice was crowded to capacity, a score of autos being parked in front of the church. An excellent program was carried out which included an address by the pastor, Mr. Kibler, Mr. Horner and a number of musical selections by the quartette. The church under Mr. Larson's pastorate is prospering and its membership has been steadily increasing.

More Muscle for Less Money

Good muscle and good brain are a combination that will beat the world. There is more digestible, brain-making, muscle-building material in

Shredded Wheat

than in beef-steak or eggs. Wise old Mother Nature made the whole wheat the most perfect food given to man, and along came an American genius and made it digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking it. The tasty, delicious crispness of the baked wheat pleases the palate and delights the stomach after the heavy foods of winter.

Wholesome, healthful, nourishing. Delicious for breakfast with milk or cream, or for any meal with berries or fruits.

CUPID VERY BUSY AT WHITE HOUSE

Miss Isabelle Hagner.

Miss Isabelle Hagner of Washington, who during several administrations has been the social secretary of the White House, it is announced, is to marry Mr. Norman James, a prominent Baltimorean. The wedding day has been fixed for next month and will be one of the big social events of the season because of the prominence of the principals.

THE SICK

Miss Nelhe Wilson of 47 1-2 North Fourth street, who has been a patient at the City Hospital, is recovering rapidly. She was removed yesterday to her home in the Bradley ambulance.

Lou Beckman, who recently underwent his third operation at the Newark Sanitarium, continues to improve.

Mrs. De France was removed in the Bazler ambulance from the City Hospital to her home, at Union Station.

Miss Daisy Carson was removed from the Sanitarium yesterday in the Bazler ambulance, to her home, Madison avenue and East Main street.

Mrs. Charles Bagley was removed by the Bradley ambulance Sunday from the City Hospital to her home, 39 North Cedar street.

Nels Anderson, who stepped on a rusty nail about a week ago, and was threatened with blood poisoning, is able to be about again.

Tar Boiled Over.

A kettle of tar being heated for use on the roof, boiled over in the basement of the Henrietta block at Church and Fifth streets at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon causing a bad blaze for a few minutes. The headquarters fire department responded to a telephone alarm, and soon extinguished the flames. The interior of the basement room was badly scorched and the insulation from the electric wires burned off.

The White Antidote

By Joe Busche

WHY not be happy? read Mr. Jonathan Diggins, scowling at the blatant advertisement. "Why not be happy?" He half crumpled, the paper in his hands. "I could tell the fool!" he growled. "With business as it is, and the weather and the messes, and three growing girls to bring up, and no sign of a husband for any of 'em, and the Liberals in office and the country going to the devil, it'd take more than his infernal Remedy to get me up—and, by George, I've more than half a mind to go and tell him so!"

He stared gloomily at the advertisement. It ran as follows:

"The Cup of Happiness—Why not be happy? Is your business failing? Do you suffer from grumps, grows, megrims, snarls, or other indications of bad temper? Is your home a hell?—These ills can be cured. There is a way to banish care. Consult Prof. Seneca Smiles, 361 Nelson road up near Norwood, and obtain from him his infallible Remedy. A single dose of the "Cup of Happiness" causes the vapors to fly forever. The soul sits on its sovereign seat and joy reigns unchallenged. Why not be happy?—now—today—at once? See the professor. He is waiting for you!"

"Hang it!" said Mr. Diggins, irritated beyond endurance by the buoyant optimism of the advertisement. "He shan't wait long. I'll call there on the way home and wring his neck."

He had a long and wearying day in the city, and the advertisement struck him as an insult. On the borderline between the commercial and residential areas, he found the place he was seeking—a small shop with a window covered by a green blind, and a door on which a brass plate set forth the professor's name.

With a somewhat quickened curiosity, he stepped inside. He found himself in a small office, along one side of which ran a polished counter. Beyond three chairs, there was no other furniture. A few bottles stood on the shelf behind the counter. He rapped sharply on the counter. Suddenly he was smitten violently upon the back. He turned indignantly to confront a tall, thin man with melancholy eyes, but with a face screwed up to hilarious laughter, who clapped him on the back once more with increasing violence.

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed the man. "Ha, ha, ha! I know what you've come for. I know what you want!"

"I doubt, it sir," said Mr. Diggins, spluttering wrathfully; "I very much doubt it. I am come to denounce you—to expose you as a swindler! I am come to ask the meaning of the preposterous advertisement emanating from this address which caught my eye this evening on the way from business."

"Nothing preposterous about it, my dear sir," answered the professor. "I sell happiness. So why not buy some?"

He produced a cut-glass phial from a drawer containing about two ounces of a dark greenish mixture and held it out to Mr. Diggins.

"Look at me!" he said. "Am I hearty? Am I joyful? Do I clap people on the back? You wouldn't think now that for years I was a martyr to indigestion. But I was. Then I discovered this, and indigestion became of minor importance. I suffer from it still, but it does not trouble me. I ignore it. Invaluable draft! And to think that I sell it to you at a sovereign a phial! Well, well—the work is its own reward!"

"Sir," said Mr. Diggins, "if you were in my place, with a wife and three growing girls to keep, with the weather what it has been, and business as it is, and the Liberals in office, and everything going to the devil—well, you'd know better than to insult a stranger in the way you are doing."

"No insult at all," said the professor, laughing joyfully. "This potent liquid acts upon the brain. You are aware that the brain consists of millions of small cells, each with its separate function. Some control the movements of the arms, some of the legs, some of the face. Some have to do with the sense of sight, some of hearing, others of feeling, smelling, tasting. Some are concerned with the reception of impressions—happy or unhappy, pleasant or otherwise. Now this marvellous liquid penetrates to the innermost recesses of those cells concerned with happiness and unhappiness—stimulating the former, paralyzing the latter. I alone possess the secret of its manufacture. Its action is a lasting one. For one sovereign, I offer you a life's happiness."

Mr. Diggins stared at him. The professor's assurance was infectious. He stretched out his hand for the phial. "It isn't alcohol?" he asked.

"There is a little alcohol in it," admitted the professor; "but only as a solvent for the rare herbs of which I have compounded it. Try it and see. Your money returned if it is not immediately efficacious."

He drained the flask. Almost immediately he was conscious of a wonderful sense of lightness. He became dizzy. Then the dizziness cleared off, and with it went the day's load of cares. "Ha, ha!" he shouted, throwing back his head. "It's marvellous! Ha, ha! I'm so happy! Ha, ha, ha!" In the intensity of his joy, he punched the professor in the ribs.

"Ha, ha!" echoed the professor. "I told you so, didn't I? Ha, ha, ha!" He smote Mr. Diggins on the face with his open hand, and the two, in pure lightness of heart, did a knock-about turn around the office.

When Mr. Diggins had had enough, he rose from the floor, dusty but smiling. He danced into a motor-bus, danced out of it, and danced up steps of his own front door. He danced across the hall and into the drawing room, where his wife, a stout and elderly woman, sat in tears on the sofa.

"O, Jonathan," she cried. "I'm so glad you've come. I've had a terrible day of it. But whatever have you been doing to yourself?"

"Nothing, Maria—nothing of any consequence," answered Jonathan buoyantly, casting a careless glance upon his dusty garments. "But what about this terrible day? What about it, oh! It can't be so very terrible."

"My dear children," he said, "your mother tells me that you are engaged to the butcher and the sweep. I don't know which of you favors the butcher, but whichever it is, I expect you to ask him to let me have our meat at cost price."

"Papa!" cried both the damsels indignantly. "It isn't the butcher and it isn't the sweep!"

"Well, what's the odds as long as you're happy?" answered Jonathan. "Let's all be happy. I'll just go upstairs and talk to Edie."

Regardless of his wife's further attempt to detain him, he skipped upstairs three at a time, leaving her the difficult task of explaining his conduct. He entered his younger daughter's room, to find her sitting sulky and mutinous on the bed. He smiled upon her pleasantly.

"Aha! Aha!" he said, "what's this that mother's been telling me about you, puss? Kissing the grocer's boy in the garden? Well, well, girls will be girls! What's the odds as long as you're happy?"

In a moment the girl was in his arms laughing and crying hysterically. And Jonathan had a moment's happiness so intense that he doubted whether it was altogether due to the potion.

At breakfast the following morning he became uproarious over the paper. In due course he went down to the office, and kept his fellow-clerks so fully entertained with humorous stories that their work was almost entirely neglected.

Jonathan was discharged from his situation as the result of a piece of playfulness. A man may have red whiskers and may yet object to having them pulled.

Jonathan returned to his home and pointed out to his wife that nothing better could have happened, as he would now have plenty of time to attend to the garden. His wife's dismal rejoinder that he would soon have no garden to look after struck him as being the funniest thing he had heard for months.

Mrs. Diggins regarded the situation as desperate, and took strong measures. On the following afternoon the family doctor attended, accompanied by a fellow-practitioner. Both were very correct in their behavior, very courteous, very precise. Jonathan received them in the drawing room.

"There are a lot of funny things in this world," he remarked cheerfully; "but the funniest things I know are you doctors. Ha, ha! Going about the world so solemnly and looking as though you knew such a lot. Ha, ha! Humbugs!"

The family doctor tapped his forehead and glanced at his colleague.

"I fear there is no doubt about the diagnosis," he said.

"None at all," assented the other, who appeared a trifle ruffled. "I'll sign his certificate with pleasure. After that, the sooner he's off to the asylum, the better."

"For the asylum?" said Jonathan, staring. He paused. "Really," he said, "it's very funny, but may I ask if you gentlemen consider me a lunatic?"

"Well—or—" said the family doctor. "Er—" assented his colleague.

"Because—because I'm happy?" queried Jonathan.

"That is certainly the worst symptom," said both doctors in a slow, "I see," said Jonathan, still slowly. "I am bound to admit that since I found the professor—I mean, happiness—my wife and daughters have seemed to me to be distressed. I know of no reason why they should be, but the fact remains. However much it costs me, I must sacrifice myself. A way out may be found. Call again tomorrow, gentlemen, before finally making up your opinion."

Ten minutes later he was on his way to Nelson road. He found the shop and entered. To his dismay, it was empty. Chairs, bottles, the professor—all were gone; and he stood aghast, confronted with the tragedy of a life of happiness. Only the desk remained, and he hunted through it desperately.

At length his search was rewarded. In a drawer he discovered a bottle filled with a white fluid and labeled "Antidote. To be taken when happiness becomes unbearable." He stood a moment, thinking of his wife and children, and swallowed it. "It has worked," he said a minute later, with a countenance of frozen gloom.

He reached his home and entered the drawing room to find his family assembled round the tea-table. He stared at them grumpily.

"Maria," he said, "what with the weather and business the way it is, and three growing girls to bring up, and no sign of a husband for any of them, and everything going to the devil, I'm hanged if I can see anything to laugh at."

"O, Jonathan!" she cried, "thank goodness, you're yourself again." And the girls, clustered about him with cries of relief.

"Papa!" they cried, "picnic—please say some more!"

He sat down gloomily to a cup of tea. They were too delighted to attempt to cheer him.

MARY'S FELLOWS

WHO is that out on the front porch with Mary?" belligerently inquired Sanddinger as he entered the family living-room.

"Why, I thought I heard Mary introducing you when you came up," Mrs. Sanddinger said in some surprise.

"It's a new young man—"

"Oh, I know he's new and his name is Biffkirk, and he's got fuzz on his cheeks like a gosling!" interrupted Sanddinger, with hostility. "I'd like to know what he's doing around here, that's all!"

"Why, he's calling on Mary," protested Mrs. Sanddinger. "He's perfectly nice and there isn't any reason why he shouldn't call. What makes you act so, Samuel?"

"How do you know he's nice?" demanded her husband. "I tell you, the carelessness of the modern parent is something awful! Here you sit calmly crocheting and allowing your daughter to entertain out on the front porch an utterly strange young man—"

"My goodness, Samuel!" said his wife. "He's not utterly strange! Harry Thompson introduced him in the first place, and his mother is a second cousin of Harry Thompson's father."

"Harry Thompson?" breathed Sanddinger, dilating his nostrils and glaring at his wife as though he had detected her in the act of poisoning the family. "Who is Harry Thompson that you should take his word as gospel law in conducting the affairs of this household? I've never liked the way his eyes are set, anyhow, and the way his father acted in that lawsuit was enough to stamp the whole Thompson family as—"

"Why, I've heard you prating up Harry many a time!" protested Mrs. Sanddinger, in surprise. "You always said he was such a nice boy when he'd come over with messages from his mother."

"Well, that was ten years ago," said Sanddinger. "When he was a mere child. You can't tell at all how a boy is going to turn out when he's 13 and

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

How does the efficiency of the worm drive axle compare with the bevel drive axle?

Compared with a single reduction bevel gear the efficiency of the worm gear is undoubtedly lower, taking for granted the accuracy in manufacture in both cases to be the same.

There is a steady tapping in my motor which cannot be located. Is it more noticeable when there is a strain on the motor. Can you explain it?

A bent valve stem will in nearly every case cause a knock to be heard. If the valve springs of any one cylinder are weak that cylinder may misfire and give the effect of a part slightly loose. See if the valve and ignition timing are correct. Perhaps the noise you hear is nothing more than a valve slap, which is caused by the valve seating improperly.

The material of which the top of my battery is made has become cracked. Can you tell me what to use to close the cracks?

The best way to seal the cracks is to play a torch on the compound so as to melt it in the proximity of the breaks.

How can one find the firing order of a motor?

A fairly good method is as follows: Taking No. 1 cylinder, get both valves so they are closed. Then turn the motor over slowly and watch for the next cylinder to have both its valves closed. This will be the next cylinder to fire. Continue turning the motor crank shaft, and note the next cylinder, with its valves closed, and so on. Another method is to open the petcocks, and by holding the hand over them one at a time the order of the suction strokes can be found and hence the firing order.

Can you give me some information on casehardening steel?

Casehardening of iron or steel refers to a process of causing steel, after being sufficiently heated, to absorb a certain amount of carbon, so that the resulting mass will have a coating or case of a relatively hard substance. The process of doing the work varies, and a great variety of carbonaceous substances are used for introducing the carbon into the metal. Solids are used more extensively than either liquids or gases for this work, and some of the more common substances are charcoal obtained from wood or bone; charred leather; a mixture of borum carbonate and charcoal in the proportions of 40 to 60 per cent respectively; powdered bone, salt, 10 per cent; charcoal, 90 per cent; animal blood; charcoal and potassium carbonate, potassium cyanide, etc.

The extent of the hardening—that is, the thickness of the case—will be dependent upon three things—namely, the temperature of the part to be hardened, the time the heated metal is in contact with the carbonaceous material and the kind of material used for producing the case. The usual casehardening temperature is 1,650 degrees F., but the higher the temperature the deeper will be the case. The article to be hardened is heated in a furnace and when a cherry red is removed and embedded in the hardening material. After removal it sometimes is customary to heat treat the casehardened steel. This is done by reheating to about the same temperature or higher, if possible, and then quenching in water or oil. A second heating often is given, but not as high as either of the others.

I am troubled by the small clips on my springs working loose and causing a disagreeable rattle. I do not wish to remove the clips, but should like to know how to prevent their rattling.

Perhaps the simplest way to prevent loose clips of this description from rattling is to wind the clip, especially the part passing over the top leaf of the spring, with ordinary tire or electrician's tape. If this is neatly wound and painted to match the spring it will not look like a bit of patchwork and it will effectively prevent the clip from rattling or squeaking.

Why does a motor misfire with the spark fully advanced at high speed?

The trouble probably is due to the interrupter points being too far apart on the break. However, while this may cause the misfiring, there may be trouble with the breaker box and its connections.

What necessary changes must be made to increase the available maximum speed of a car?

The weight of the vehicle should first be decreased as much as possible, removing all nonessential units of equipment. Since wind resistance is an important factor in the speed of the car, it becomes evident that every effort should be made to reduce it. The hood should be made long and tapering so that it comes almost to a point, leaving just enough space in front to permit air currents to reach the radiator. After the body has been streamlined as much as possible attention should be turned to the mechanical parts. If possible the valve seats should be enlarged and new valves of greater diameter procured. If only the intake valves can be made larger it is a good idea to do this. A counterbore or an oversize valve reaming tool may be used to enlarge the valve seats, and new valves are comparatively cheap. The lift of the valves may be slightly increased by substituting larger cams.

Resetting of the magneto will depend upon conditions. Setting it ahead will cause the motor to stop if the throttle is set down too far. If it is possible to use a larger carburetor and intake leader it is best to do so, for if the intake valves are made larger more mixture can be accommodated. The frictional loss in the motor is reduced somewhat by removing one of the piston rings, but if the pistons have but two narrow rings this should not be done. Lighter pistons will help matters materially. Some use pistons of magnalium, steel or semisteel, while others take the old pistons and drill holes in them. Care should be taken in doing this work that each piston weighs the same as any of the other pistons. If possible use lighter connecting rods, but it would not do to remove metal from the old ones, for the strength might be impaired. New rods of stronger metal and thinner sections or hollow rods are better.

A pressure oiling system with a hand control on the dash or somewhere within easy reach of the driver is one of the first essentials for a speedy car. The hand control consists merely of a hand pump drawing oil from the tank and forcing it to the crank case. The direction of flow is regulated by ball check valves, properly placed. Nearly all racing cars are fitted with magnetos of the double distributor so that they feed to two sets of spark plugs at the same time.

What is an offset steering knuckle? An offset steering knuckle is one which causes the wheel contact with the ground to be located to the rear of the point at which the steering spindle axis produced meets the ground.

Can you give a method of cleaning carbon from cylinders by denatured alcohol? The use of denatured alcohol is simple. It is best used when the engine is hot, as immediately after a run. If the carbon deposit is slight it usually is not difficult to be removed, but if the deposit is a heavy one it may be necessary to remove the spark plugs of the cylinders to be operated on and fill the combustion chambers with alcohol, leaving it to soak overnight. It is obvious that only two cylinders of a four cylinder engine can be treated at the same time, for the simple reason that while two of the pistons are at the top of the stroke the other two will be at the bottom. The alcohol can be removed with a gun. When the engine is started up the carbon, if sufficiently loosened, will be thrown out. Of course the treatment will vary in proportion to the thickness and hardness of the deposit.

Is there any element or compound in the fresh or exhaust gases of a gasoline motor which is injurious to rubber?

Fresh gas contains particles of gasoline and rubber is soluble in that liquid. The exhaust gas contains a number of compounds which are injurious to rubber.

Can you explain the distance of the platinum points on both high and low tension magnetos? Are these points open or closed when firing?

The usual gap is one and thirty-two hundredths inches, but this may vary slightly, depending upon conditions. Sometimes a one-sixteen hundredth inch gap is best. In most systems the spark occurs on the break of the points, but in some of the older systems, where the one interrupter was made to control both battery and magneto primaries, the points came together to cause the battery spark and separated to cause the magneto spark.

Can you give the formula for determining the horsepower required to spin an engine?

We know of no formula, but the power required to spin a motor at a given speed may be measured by a dynamometer. The latter is made to turn the motor, and the wattage of dynamometer will be the approximate power required.

I am having trouble with my lubrication and ignition system. So large a quantity of oil is fed that the motor smokes constantly and carbon forms very rapidly. Especially is this true in the rear cylinder, from which the oil exudes constantly.

The trouble is caused by too much oil getting above the piston, which is due either to poorly fitting rings or a worn cylinder, or it may be that the connecting rod scoops are too long and thus too much oil is splashed. Do not put too much oil into the crank case—that is, lower the level slightly, and if the trouble ceases have the scoops on the rod ends filed down slightly and then raise the level.

Agitation and Intimidation

Prohibition is an issue again this year only because Professional Agitators forced the proposed amendment on the ballot.

The voters thought they settled the liquor question in 1912 when they put into the Constitution by 85,000 majority the best liquor license provision ever written into law. The Prohibition Amendment would repeal that successful provision of the Constitution.

In 1913 the Prohibition Agitators got the question before the people through the Anti-Shipping Bill. When the voters defeated that by 95,000 majority they were confident they had settled the question.

In 1914 the Agitators put state-wide prohibition on the ballot and that was defeated by 85,000 majority. The voters were sure then that the matter was settled for all time.

But the Prohibition Agitators have forced the question on the ballot again this year, even though it is sure to be defeated.

Four votes in four years on the same general issue and majorities against the Agitators every time.

Prohibition agitation pays the professional Agitator well and costs you much.

FALSE CHARGES AND INTIMIDATION

Last year the prohibitionists sought votes by misstatements and garbled copies of the Home Rule Amendment. After their defeat at the polls they made charges of "election frauds." The purpose of those false charges, it now develops, was to pave the way for the intimidation now brazenly promised by the Professional Agitators.

Either the Home Rule Association or the local County Home Rule Associations opposed to prohibition, and the organizations that seek to defend the prohibition propaganda will have their legally accredited witnesses and challengers at the polls on election day as always.

Pursuing a policy of intimidation and coercion, the professional prohibitionists publicly threaten to have thousands of "dry" deputy sheriffs stationed at the voting places.

Are election officials so crooked that "dry" deputy sheriffs shall watch their every movement?

Are the voters of Ohio so dishonest that "dry" deputy sheriffs shall watch them mark their ballots?

The answer of the Ohio Home Rule Association is "NO." The Ohio Home Rule Association and Local Home Rule Association have not asked and will not ask for the appointment of a single deputy sheriff at the coming election.

The threat of the professional prohibitionists is a slanderous attack upon the integrity of voters and election officers alike.

Ohio voters and Ohio election officers have a reputation for honesty and integrity unequalled by any other state.

This slander should be resented. A "NO" vote on prohibition will be a refutation of the charge of crookedness and a protest against intimidation.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs" to evacuate the bowels no difference
 what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative."
 Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little

CRISIS

 for us. We issued safely from a difficult position in the advanced Vistula theater where we were enveloped on three sides and now stand based upon the center of our empire unexhausted by war. It is true that there is still much fierce determined fighting ahead; there may be movements rearwards; but there certainly will be advances also.

"Our army lives in expectation of a general offensive and looks with full confidence to the armies of its allies. It will march boldly and cheerfully forward conscious that in so doing it is defending the interests of our country and the interests of our allies."

"A stirring struggle with the forces of nature has schooled the Russians to hardships and ingrained in them the instinct to hasten to succor and relief of a brother in need. Hence an appeal from our allies will always find a warm response from the Russian army."

The correspondent remarks that the concluding phrase, referring as it doubtless does, to Serbia, typifies the deep seated instinct of the Russian to respond to blood ties.

SUSPECTED

 late at night and test an explosive by blowing up a tree.

Again yesterday the police watched in the woods and saw Fay and Scholz burning a powder and testing an explosive. When the test was completed the detectives arrested them.

According to the police Fay offered $1,000 to be set free.

Announcement was made at police headquarters here today by Commissioner Woods that Fay, after an all-night grilling had made a confession. For more than twelve hours it was stated, Fay stuck to his original story that he was not connected with the German government.

This morning, according to the commissioner, he broke down and admitted that he was a lieutenant in the German army and came to this country two or three months ago for the specific purpose of experimenting with a machine containing high explosives.

This machine, the commissioner said, contained works like a clock and was to be attached to the propeller or rudder of a ship. The machine was so constructed, he said, that the stirring of the water would cause a rod, connecting with one of the cogs to release a spring, resulting in an explosion which would disable the ship and force her to enter the nearest port.

This was for the purpose of delaying ships of munitions to the allies it was stated. Only ships carrying war munitions were to be thus disabled, according to Fay's statement.

A number of detectives left headquarters in automobiles early today and it was said that several arrests will be made today of men who are cognizant of Fay's movements.

Fay and Scholz, who were arrested yesterday while testing explosive near Grantwood, N. J., were arraigned today before a justice of the peace at Weehawken, N. J., on charges of conspiracy and held without bail for examination tomorrow.

The arraignment of the two men disclosed the fact that a third man Paul Daech, had been arrested early today at his home in Jersey City
 after New York and New Jersey
 police had searched the house.

Daech was also arraigned with Fay
 and Scholz and held without bail.
 Detectives said they expected Daech to prove a valuable witness as he had already given them much important information. Daech said he was thirty-four years old, that he came to this country from Germany in 1912, and was a graduate of Cologne University.

Detective George Barnitz of the New York Central office squad made the affidavit upon which the three men were held on charges of conspiracy.

Arrangements have been completed for the banquet Thursday night at the Pythian Castle when Bell telephone officials will demonstrate the trans-continental telephone line recently completed by the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Carl Hermann, a former Newark young man, S. A. Cuneo, secretary of the Ohio commission at the exposition and Rufus Putnam, for years a resident of this city, have all been invited to the Ohio building to talk with the banqueters in their home town.

Practically all the tickets have been sold for the event, which is given under the auspices of the Merchants' Association. The banquet is to be served by W. C. Kuster and C. E. McDaniel, the committee placed in charge of the "cata."

 ton and W. D. Fulton.

BRYAN

 ville, New Philadelphia, Coshocton, Newark, New Lexington and Zanesville. The Zanesville speech will be delivered tonight. The second day's tour begins with a speech at Louthaster. After several cities in southern Ohio have been visited, a temperance rally will be held in Columbus.

While the dry forces are conducting their whirlwind campaign, the wets also will be busy. Several speakers are to be sent out from their headquarters here to argue against prohibition and an extensive advertising campaign has been planned.

LARGE CROWD
GREET'S BRYAN
IN THIS CITY

Hon. W. J. Bryan, ex-secretary of state, arrived in this city shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon and was met at the Pennsylvania station by Attorney J. H. Miller, Attorney A. S. Mitchell and other members of the Anti-saloon League in this county and headed by the Buckeye band in uniform was escorted to the south side of the court house steps where he was scheduled to deliver an address. He speaks in Zanesville tonight.

A large crowd assembled in the court house park this afternoon to hear Mr. Bryan who is scheduled to leave town at 4 p. m.

AT STEUBENVILLE

Mr. Bryan Flays the Constitutional Stability Amendment.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
 Steubenville, Oct. 25.—"This so-called constitutional stability amendment should be called the 'immunity amendment.' Its purpose insofar as it relates to the special privilege interests is to secure immunity for them guaranteeing that they will not be disturbed no matter what they do."

This was the declaration of William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state and three times presidential candidate who addressed a great throng of voters here today, opening the whirlwind campaign in behalf of state-wide prohibition.

Mr. Bryan's reference was to the amendment initiated by the so-called Liberal interests, which if adopted on November 2, would prevent a vote of more than once in six years on constitutional amendments, twice defeated since 1912.

"The adoption of the amendment,
 Mr. Bryan said would practically nullify the initiative and referendum feature of Ohio's constitution. It was an attack upon the principles of popular government, he said.

He made an especial point to the laboring class to vote against it.

FACTORY GIRLS

 nearby hospital where one died after being admitted.

Minnie Pittner, one of the girls who jumped from the burning building, died while on the way to the hospital, bringing the known dead to six. Loretto Link, Margaret Kinsler, Kate Bittner, Gertrude Neidt, Mollie Arnold and Margaret Steigerwald were taken to hospitals suffering from burns and broken limbs. The driver of the fire engine on its way to the fire was crushed when the engine overturned and it was feared he would die. Another fireman was overcome by smoke and was said to be in a critical condition.

Soon after three o'clock firemen penetrated to the girls' dressing room in the factory where they found three bodies on the floor. The girls had been suffocated. One of them was identified by her brother as Cecelia Jose, as the body was taken into the street.

A few minutes later three more bodies were found, two of them badly burned but the other was said by persons living in the neighborhood to be Florence Becker, who obtained work in the factory only a day or two ago.

EVERY THREE MINUTES
ONE DIES IN THE U. S.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Society illustrates the frightful toll of consumption by extinguishing a light every three minutes, and shows that it is the man or woman, girl or boy, who neglects colds, whose blood is impure, who feels weak and languid, who is the very one to contract tuberculosis—and none are immune.

During changing seasons, or after sickness, blood-quality is most important, and if you and your family will take Scott's Emulsion after meals it will charge your blood with health-sustaining richness, quicken circulation,
 and strengthen both lungs and throat.
 Scott's is free from alcohol—easy to take—it cannot harm. Get a bottle to-day.

"A Pair of Sixes."
 There has probably never been a play produced in New York City that received such glowing, bubbling criticisms as that given by the ordinarily every-hard-to-please metropolitan critics to Manager Frazee's production of Edward Peple's farce, "A Pair of Sixes," at the Longacre theatre, New York. For once the writers allowed themselves to indulge in superlatives of praise
 without stint.

The opening paragraph of the criticism in the New York Times was so unusual that it is worth quoting: "When the curtain fell at the end of the first act of the new farce that came to the Longacre

theatre last evening, it seemed too good to be true that playwright and player, could keep up fun all evening at so fast and furious a pace. But it was true. The audience that waited incredulously for that second act found it crammed with fun all its own, and as for the third and last, the people on the stage, shout as they would, could hardly make themselves heard above the howls of laughter that came from the other side of the footlights. The playgoer who cannot find amusement in "A Pair of Sixes" would have howled at "Seven Days, sobbed at "Officer 666" and went outright at "Seven Keys to Baldpate." This farce will be seen at the Auditorium Friday night, October 29.

Mazda Theatre.
 A scene from "When a Woman Loves" with the exquisite and charm-
